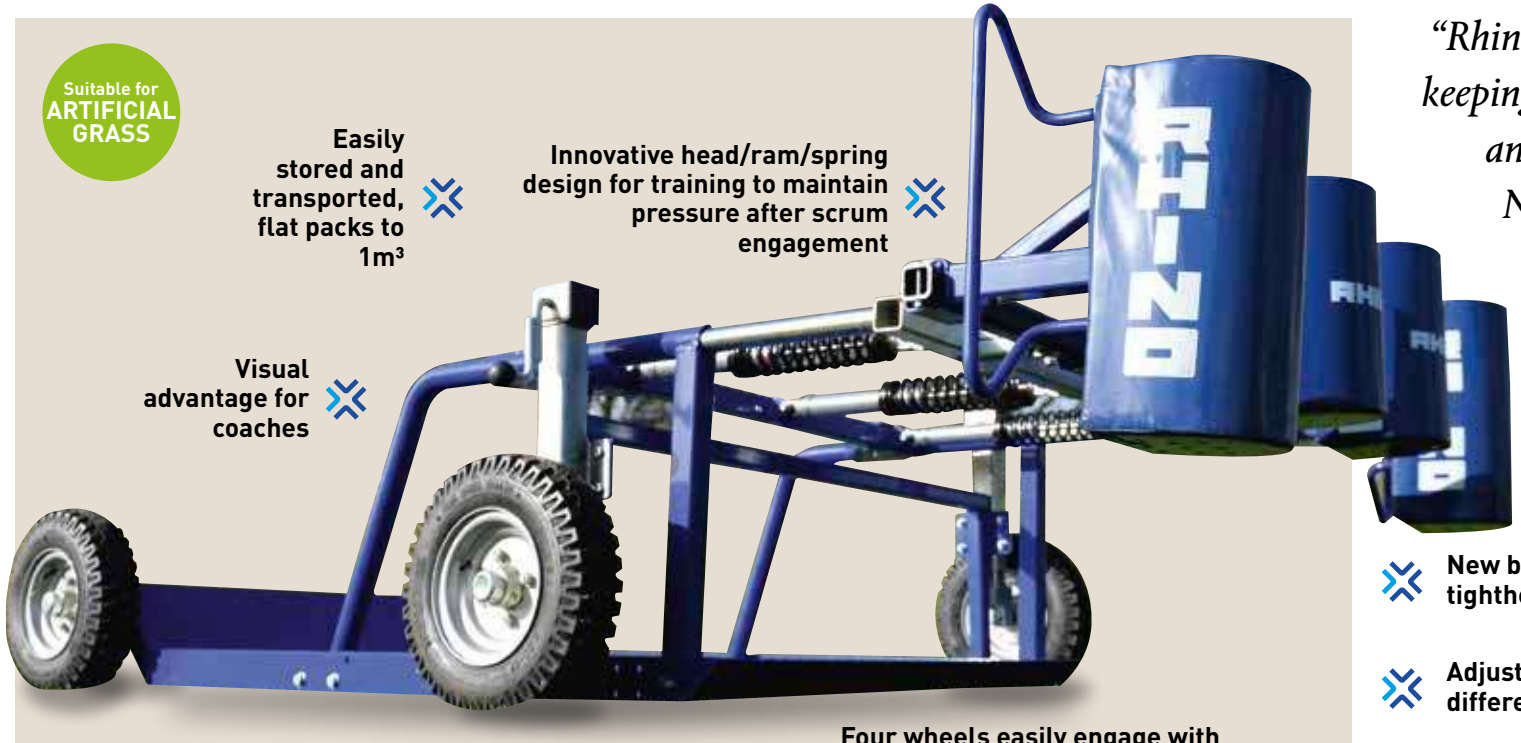
Scrum height: 69-91cm (27-35")
Weight: 300.0 kilos
Guarantee: 1 year

The Rhino Powahouse has been designed to allow scrum units to maintain pressure after engagement through the use of an innovative head/ram/spring design.

Wales forwards' coach Robin McBryde, who has won four Six Nations titles during 13 years with the side, was key to testing the machine in the UK, ensuring it met the needs of elite modern scrummaging in the Northern Hemisphere, both on grass and artificial turf. McBryde said: "The Powahouse really tested the boys. The spring systems in the heads means it's a realistic engagement so the front row aren't just hitting a solid object without thinking, and it really took some of the front rowers by surprise.

"The way the scrum is now refereed means it is no longer just about the hit, it's about being in the strongest position possible following the engagement, and that's another reason why the Powahouse is so valuable in training, it trains you to do that.

"In the modern game you have to be pretty close to your strongest pushing position on your set up as you've only got six inches of space to get it right, so working on the Powahouse brought a good focus to that stage of the process for us."



"Rhino has always been excellent at keeping up with the pace of the game and the trends that develop. Not just in the scrum, but also the contact and breakdown area."

- Robin McBryde

- New bind bar positions for tighthead and loosehead props
- Adjustable scrum heads to suit different size players

Rhino reinforced its position as No.1 for scrum machines with the launch of the Rhino Pro Scrum, an innovative training machine designed for all levels, on all surfaces.

The Rhino Pro Scrum has been invented by long-term collaborator, the former Scotland and Springboks contact and collision skills coach Richie Gray.

It offers:

- A circular base that encourages straight and balanced drives
- Adjustable loosehead and tighthead pads to reflect variable prop sizes
- New loosehead-specific pad to mimic real-life scrum position
- Side-binding pads with match jersey fabric
- Bungee-spring-loaded heads for adjustable resistance
- Maul-attachment option
- Rounded base-plate design reduces impact on pitch and suitable for artificial and hybrid pitches

Maul attachment can be attached to back of sled

Circular base enables sled to move in different directions to the rectangular scrum sleds. Ideal for artificial surfaces due to non-contoured base, reducing the risk of damage

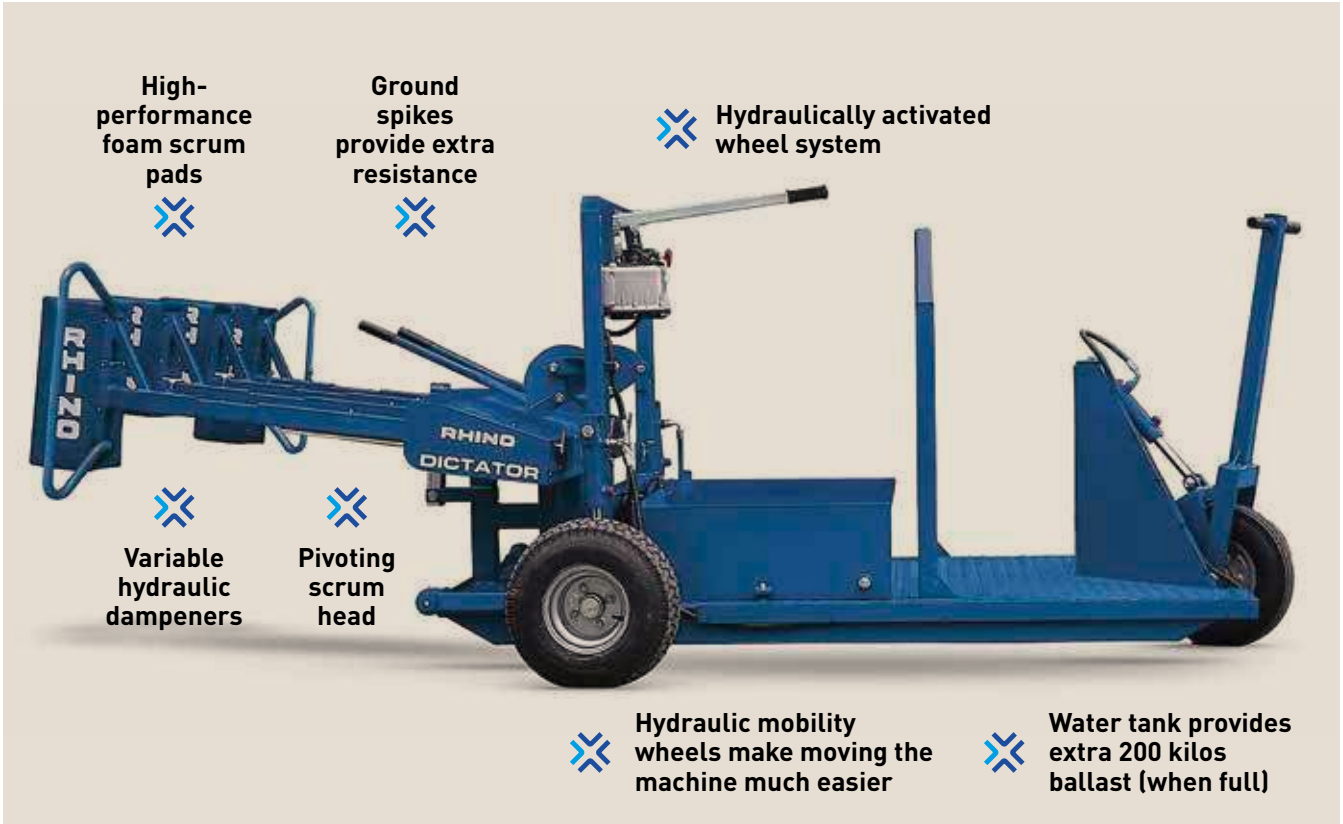
OFFICIAL SUPPLIER TO THE BRITISH & IRISH LIONS 2009 · 2013 · 2017

Perfect the art of scrummaging with the Rhino Dictator, the official scrum machine of The British & Irish Lions, England Rugby and the Welsh Rugby Union.

Now fitted with the hydraulic wheel system, the Rhino Dictator is a robust steel sled with four adjustable heights and vertical rounded, dual foam, detachable scrum pads. It also features a wider head and larger pads to accommodate a greater range of pack sizes and two 'geared' ground spikes for use on the move. Pads move horizontally against the variable resistance hydraulic dampeners.



OPTIONAL

Rhino Dictator binding pads

The 'Crouch, Bind, Set' scrum engagement sequence places a lot of importance on the way props bind, and Rhino have a couple of options to enable players to practice this within scrum training.

The Dictator scrum machine comes with steel loops on the tighthead and loosehead pads as standard that enable a range of bind grips to be practiced. There is also the option to upgrade to binding pads which consist of foam pads lined with rugby shirt material that encourage players to work to get a good bind as they would in the match. Binding pads can be installed onto new machines being purchased or existing machines can easily be upgraded by purchasing replacement pads or sending existing head pads in for exchange.

After a career that saw him win 111 caps for Australia, and become renowned as one of the great flankers of all time, George Smith has now produced a range of equipment to coach the breakdown – and it's exclusive to Rhino.

LOW PENTAGONAL PRISM TACKLE PAD

- 1100 (l) x 460 (w) x 460mm (h)
- 19.0 kilos
- One-year guarantee

Ideal for simulation of the tackled player

This pentagonal prism tackle pad mimics the human body in the tackle situation with the flat faces reducing the slide on grass after contact. Different positioning allows you to replicate different techniques: flat front (chest), angled away (bicep arms wrap) and angled backwards (forearm wrap).

Offers the same benefits, coaching low tackle position and realistic tackle situation, but with ball indent to reflect a jackal scenario.

JCKL. Rugby by George Smith

LOW PENTAGONAL PRISM TACKLE PAD WITH JACKAL

- 460 (w) x 460 (d) 1100mm (h)
- 18.0 kilos
- One-year guarantee

HIGH PENTAGONAL PRISM TACKLE BAG

- 460 (w) x 460mm (d) x 1450mm(h)
- 30.0 kilos
- One-year guarantee

Can also be used in unison with Pentagonal Ring for cleanout drill

This pentagonal prism mirrors the body contours for shoulder contact, arm wrap and delivers minimal movement on grass and synthetic ground surfaces. The prism's dense composition allows for solid contact.

The same realistic tackle situation but with two ball indents for perfecting tackle-to-jackal technique.

JCKL. Rugby by George Smith

HIGH PENTAGONAL PRISM TACKLE BAG WITH DOUBLE JACKAL BAG

- 460 (w) x 460mm (d) x 1400m (h)
- 28.0 kilos

JACKAL + BREAKDOWN CLEANOUT SHIELD

- 1100 (w) x 700 (d) x 400mm (h)
- 5.0 kilos
- One-year guarantee

Mirroring a jackal cleanout situation with one or two players. The unique wrap-waisted padding allows the user to apply downward force to mimic the attempted jackal, encouraging the clean out to target the bottom flat face and drive through with the legs.

This hit shield forces the tackler to minimise the target area to hone their tackle technique. The pad holder can vary the height of the target from north to south, forcing the defender to concentrate on the centre space of the C-Pad Hit Shield.

JCKL. Rugby by George Smith

C-PAD HIT SHIELD

- 400mm (w) x 150 (d) x 700mm (h)
- 3.0 kilos
- One-year guarantee

CONTACT EQUIPMENT

JCKL. Rugby by George Smith

PENTAGONAL HIT SHIELD

- 450 (w) x 200 (d) x 450mm (h)
- 1.0 kilos
- One-year guarantee

This shield is intentionally smaller to force the tackler to focus on a smaller target area. Minimising the target area forces the tackler into a more precise tackle technique. The pad holder also benefits by the weight and mobility of the smaller, lighter pad.

This unique 'ring' shape encourages the tackler to position their feet correctly after the tackle, ensuring a solid foundation from which to contest. When used in conjunction with High Pentagonal Prism Bag, it can also be used for 'double-blast' clean outs. The perfect ruck defence aid.

CUSTOM-FIT MOUTHGUARD

Sizing

CUSTOM

For the perfect custom-fit mouthguard, Rhino will send a dental technician to your school, club or university to carry out a 3D-digital impression scan of your players' mouths. This scan, taken using a digital intra-oral scanner, not only ensures we get the most detailed mould, but can also be stored so that if a mouthguard is lost, an exact replacement can be created. We can also add custom elements such as colours, logos and names.

The process has proved hugely popular across teams from all levels. For the past two years, both sides in The Varsity Match at Twickenham, Oxford University and Cambridge University, have benefited from the new technology. Tim Stevens, general manager for Oxford University RFC said: "The whole experience of using this state-of-the-art process for bespoke mouthguards has been a huge step up in both product quality and customer service levels and we look forward to continuing our partnership over the coming years."
